Mike,

Here is TCF's response. You can attribute it to me. My title is senior vice president, director of corporate communications.

Thanks,
Randi

TCF will always be a champion for our customers, businesses and communities. The Foundation is a critical component of our strategy to give back to the communities where we live and serve, though it is important to note it is not our only vehicle. Last year alone, the TCF Foundation donated $1.6 million to more than 700 charitable partners and an additional $738,000 in team member matching gifts. Additionally, TCF Financial Corporation is a strong supporter of the local community, including through sponsorships with Friends of Education, the University of Minnesota and the Mall of America, and our team members donate hundreds of volunteer hours each year to support local nonprofits. Many of our executives and team members also serve on local boards, including the ACLU, NAACP, Minnesota Orchestra and other institutions.

In response to your other questions, TCF Bank donated only $282,000 to TCF Foundation in 2016 because the foundation already had a large cash balance at the beginning of the year, and TCF did not need to contribute additional funds to the foundation in 2018 or 2019 due to the $5 million donation at the end of 2017. The foundation remains organized under Minnesota State Law and so filings with the Minnesota Attorney General's office will continue.

Mike,

Sorry I was out last week and this week has been crazy. I think I can get you some answers and context by end of day Thursday.
